WHEN THE NEW TERM OPENS

A topsy-turvy close winds up a topsy-turvy University term. At the end of a session marked by interruptions and abnormal conditions, a combination of circumstances forces the lopping-off of a week's work.

Perhaps it's just as well. With the ranks broken, and practically everybody out of step, a full halt offers the best chance for a new formation and a new start on the march through January, February, March and April. But let's have the ranks full when we start on. With the war past history, there's no reason why a University student should drop his studies.

The years ahead are calling trained men to solve the problems and meet the situations arising from the war. Stay in school, get in school, or return to school, is the call for every young man.

Perhaps Liebknecht knew that sleeping in the former kaiser's bed was the nearest he would ever come to leading the fortunes of Germany.

FOR THE POOR

With the beginning of the cold winter season, the amount of poverty and suffering increases. The Columbia Charity Organization Society recognizes this and has made its plans to care for the unfortunate who need its assistance.

This year more persons than usual will need assistance because of the prevalence of influenza and also because of the fact that many bread-winners are away at war. Organized charity such as the society gives can better care for their needs and give more aid than promiscuous giving. When the society begins its campaign for funds there should be no deaf ears.

THE NEW BOOKS

"Principles of Expressive Reading." Impression before expression is the keynote of Olaf M. Norlie's "Principles of Expressive Reading," a book just published about the history, theory and art of reading aloud.

In it Doctor Norlie takes up every phase of the technique of reading. The book is divided into four parts: "Getting a Perspective," "Getting the Details," "Drill" and "Criticism." It would make an excellent text for a university course in English phonetics, beside giving one a good comparison with French, German and Norwegian sounds.

The thoroughness in treatment of voice training and in fact the whole book is original and unique.

THE U. P. PEACE STAFF

The United Press, which furnishes telegraph news to the Missouriian, announces that Ed L. Keen, general European manager of the service will be in direct charge of the staff which will report the proceedings of the peace conference. Roy W. Howard, president of the United Press will have general direction of the arrangements of the service and is returning to France for that purpose.

Keen will have a large staff at his disposal and will be assisted by such able lieutenants as William Philip Simms, manager of the Paris bureau, and Henry Wood, manager of the Rome bureau. Simms and Wood both served practically throughout the entire war at the fighting front and with their background of familiarity with the French and Italian political situation are peculiarly well equipped for this important work.

Fred S. Ferguson, former news manager at New York who scored the famous beats on the American advance at Chateau Thierry and St. Mihiel will be in charge of the American features at the peace conference. Lowell Mellett, former Washington manager of the United Press who has spent much time in London during the war and has wide experience with the British army will cover the British phase of the situation, under the direction of Keen, who has been in London at the head of the United Press bureau for seven years.

Other members of Keen's staff will include the following men experienced in covering European news for United Press papers: Arthur E. Mann, John De Gandt, Don Chamberlain, Webb Miller, Frank J. Taylor, Ralph Couch.

Robert J. Bender, manager of the Washington bureau of the United Press will accompany President Wilson as a member of the immediate party. He will remain with the President throughout his stay in Europe and will report his activities. Bender will sail on the same ship with the presidential party.

J. W. T. Mason, famous United Press expert on international affairs whose war views have been recognized throughout the world as authoritative will write the daily analytical review of the peace negotiations.

TO ESTABLISH LEGAL PATERNITY

Missouri Children's Code Commission Would Protect Illegitimates.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 3.—Establishment of legal paternity for children in Missouri born out of wedlock is among the legislative program of the Missouri Children's Code Commission commenced in the report of the commission which will be presented to the state legislature next January.

The commission also recommends laws placing further restrictions on the employment of child labor; protection of the rights of children; increasing their educational advantages; abolition of the common law marriage; publication of notices of intention to marry; a system of supervising and licensing maternity hospitals and private institutions carry for children and the creation of a bureau for mental defects at the University of Missouri to serve the courts, schools and institutions in examining defective children.

Similar recommendations were included in a program presented to the legislature two years ago but only the measures meeting no organized opposition were adopted at that time.

Y. M. C. A. to Reorganize.

The Y. M. C. A., which has been under the control of the war organization, will change back to local work. A new secretary will be employed. The regular work will start about January 1.

There Will Be No Quick Relief in the Paper Situation.

It will be months, perhaps years, after peace is declared before conditions in the paper-making industry are normal again. Prices will not be lower. Certain grades of paper will not be obtainable, and the supply in other grades will be limited.

Some paper mills have been able to maintain the quality of their product. They have found it difficult, however, to supply old customers, and have accepted few new ones. The problem of buying paper in the last few months has been more difficult than the problem of printing it well.

We offer you a full well chosen line of excellent papers. They were bought months ago, in sufficient quantity to last some time. You may be sure that in duplicating any work that we have done for you in the past few years we can give you the same quality paper that we gave you before. Some of the lines have been improved. We cannot match colors closely—nobody can. We can, however, maintain quality.

This is the Stove Polish YOU Should Use

It's different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.

Black Silk Stove Polish

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on simple stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers.

All we ask is a trial. Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish, you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Trust in Black Silk Stove Polish.

Made in liquid or paste—one quality.
